INDORSEMENT

The Plaintiff's claim against the Defendant is for special and general damages resulting from the personal injuries which she suffered on 15th April, 1997 when, whilst employed by the defendant as a kitchen helper in the pantry and carrying out her duties as such in a normal fashion, she slipped and fell on the floor of the pantry/kitchen ("the kitchen") in the building known as the Hyatt Regency ("the building") where she was expected to perform her work. The building and the hotel situated thereon ("the hotel") were owned, operated and maintained by the Defendant. The Plaintiff at the material time slipped on a piece of lettuce leaf or other vegetable material which had been negligently left on the floor at the place where, and at the time when, she was carrying out her duties. The Defendant is liable for the Plaintiff's damages because it was, at the relevant time, in breach of its duty of care and of its statutory duty towards the Plaintiff as the latter's employer and as occupier of the building. The Plaintiff also claims pre-judgement and post-judgement interest and costs from the Defendant.

Dated this 7th day of April, 2000.
